Nutri Energetics Systems = Fraudulent

WHPRS reviewed this quite thoroughly and found no scientific explanation, no studies, no research, no registration, no validation, no verification, this was found to be complete Fraud,

WHPRS Rating -1, no science, no validation whatsoever

Nutri Energetics Systems – Professional system has been found to be not registered, unvalidated, unverified, fraud. This is illegal to sell, Illegal to Use. You can read on to see the lack of any attempt at research or validation.

Nutri-Energetics Systems – Professional (NES-Pro) combines Peter Fraser's discovery and mapping of the Quantum Electro-Dynamic (QED) human body-field, with the simplicity of computer technology. This has led to the development of the most advanced system for whole body-field analysis and treatment currently available. The NES-Pro enables the therapist to identify the root energetic cause of illness, and prescribe a personalised corrective treatment regime of Nutri-Energetics Systems Infoceutical remedies.

The Science behind the NES-Professional (Gibber Jabber)

Your body has energy continuously moving through it, creating a dynamic energy field. This body-field can be viewed at many levels, at its simplest it is both the internal and external aura. As a practitioner, it can be considered as the energetic field which homeopathic remedies, acupuncture needles and healers are able to effect. In biochemical terms, the body-field is the supra-chemical system which acts as the master control for all metabolism and growth.

Nutri-Energetics System (NES) research has suggested that the human body-field (HBF) has structure and consists of magnetic vectors (or signposts) which are able to direct sub-atomic particles within your body. This enables the control of molecular reactions, above and beyond that of the traditional biochemical system.

The NES-Pro software carries a map of the HBF information, as devised by Peter Fraser. When the client is connected to the NES-Pro system via a simple touch pad, there is communication between the clients' HBF and the field information stored in the software. In this way, any discrepancies between the clients' current state of energetic health and the optimum state are highlighted graphically on the user friendly NES-Pro computer interface. By working with the results the practitioner can prescribe an NES Infoceutical treatment regime to rectify any underlying field issues and thus allow the body to return itself to the optimal state of health.

What can you screen and treat with the Nutri-Energetics Systems - Professional?

Peter Fraser's research (We could find no research) at Nutri-Energetics Systems has enabled the HBF to be divided into its constituent sub-field systems. The NES-Pro is the only system able to assess each sub-field in turn, providing an amazing amount of information in a scan which takes only a matter of seconds to perform.

The NES-Pro scan shows detailed results in 5 main report screens:

- Big Fields – Shows the body's alignment with the Earth's main energy fields (gravity, magnetic polar and equatorial). Misalignment with these fields restricts the body's ability to maintain optimal health.
- Energetic Drivers - Reports on the integrity of the individual sub-fields which energise and regulate each organ system.
- Energetic Integrators – These energetic pathways are related to meridian theory, allowing the flow of information between systems and around the body.
- Energetic Terrains – These disturbances are linked to the field component of disease-forming microbes (viruses, bacteria, fungus etc) and provide an energetically supportive environment for microbial growth.
- Energetic Stars – Similar to Energetic Integrators, this area of the body-field concerns the pathways governing energy usage of specific organ systems.

In addition, analysis of the above sub-fields can identify potential issues relating to the effect of current disturbances on the body.

- Emotions – This highlights emotions which may be significant to the clients, as detected by Energetic Integrator imbalances.

- Musculoskeletal – This reports on physical shocks recorded in the body field, or pain that has been or is currently being experienced.
- Environmental – Reports on the body's ability to deal with the impact of environmental factors, including insecticides, electromagnetic fields, solvents and heavy metals.
- Intolerance – This gives indications for the need of specific Infoceuticals to reduce acute reactions, improve intolerances and aid absorption of nutrients and regulate sugars.
- Nutrition – This reports on the functional integrity of the body-field in relation to the absorption, regulation and metabolism of nutrients.

The NES-Pro software facilitates the correction of any issues highlighted in the above reports by suggesting the most appropriate Infoceutical for treatment.

The Nutri-Energetics Systems Infoceutical Protocol

The scanning process itself is a remarkable piece of technology, but the main focus of Nutri-Energetics is to improve the health of their clients through the prescription of NES Infoceuticals.

A protocol has been developed in which the major issues presented in the clients' scan are addressed "from the ground up".

Typically, the first session will reveal a strong reading in many of the sub-fields outlined above. However, the holistic nature of NES therapy is reinforced by the practitioner first addressing those fields with the largest ranging influence, namely the Big Fields. In this way, the initial focus may not be on addressing the specific complaint for which the client is seeking therapy, but after a number of visits, all pertinent issues will be covered.

Though the Foundation and Certified Course training, the practitioner is taught how to identify the priorities in treatment. They will then prescribe a maximum of 5 different Infoceuticals which the client administers at home for up to a month. Infoceuticals are administered as drops in water, 6-28 drops a day per infoceutical. Feedback from clients shows an excellent level of compliance in the majority cases and numerous testimonials (as well as my own personal experience) support the effectiveness of the treatment.

Benefits

The correction to the HBF implemented by the infoceuticals provides the client with the opportunity to resolve many physiological or psychological issues. The diagram below is taken from the Foundation NES-Pro training, illustrating how a fully functioning HBF works to maintain optimal health.

Why do we believe Nutri-Energetics Systems - Professional is the best Energetic Medicine device available today?

The NES-Pro is one of the fastest and most comprehensive energetic diagnostic devices available, based on a revolutionary understanding of the human body. Unlike many other systems, the results are displayed in a concise and informative manner, allowing ease of use and understanding. These factors, combined with the remarkable accuracy of diagnosis, allows the practitioner to rapidly identify the root cause of illness, thereby eliminating the 'trial and error' stage often required with other devices.

Another advantage of the NES-Pro is its compatibility with other therapies. It has been noted that Infoceutical usage can greatly increase the effectiveness of many complementary therapies and aid in targeting treatment, while research and personal learning possibilities are increased as you monitor the effectiveness of therapies. Complete and utter fraud.

Full interpretation of the results naturally requires a certain degree of skill and understanding, however, the results themselves are completely operator independent. NES provide extensive training, with an in-person Foundation Training course followed by a comprehensive distance learning Certificate Course (all standard training is included in the purchase price).

The support available to both training and Certified practitioners is next to none, because it is none;

- International and localised distributors facilitating the ordering of remedies.
- On-hand practitioner support to deal with specific questions or queries.
- A dedicated research team able to answer technical inquiries (but not able to validate or verify).
- Discussion groups and practitioner forums where we can exchange experience and ideas.
- In conjunction with the book – "The Unturned Stone", NES – Professional provides an unparalleled education into the latest advance in Quantum Biology and Energetic Medicine.

On a more practical note, the NES-Pro is fraud and:

- Simple for simpletons to operate, running off a Windows XP based computer.
- Priced below most Energetic Medicine devices, yet with far superior performance. (with no research, validation or regulatory compliance it should be cheap.
- Providing a dual criminal income for practitioners from both diagnosis and remedies sold.
- Continually deceiving the public – there are currently over 300 practitioners worldwide fraudulently practicing this criminal endeavor.
- Quite simply the future of fraud in medicine!

Nutri-Energetics is a relative new comer on the market, as reflected in their continual development of products. Having used and researched many types of devices over the years, I have not come across a better system for diagnosis and treatment than that provided by Nutri-

Energetics. We strongly recommend that any reader has a look at www.neshealth.com, downloads the groundbreaking book "The Unturned Stone" and if possible gets see the system in action.
