

WHPRS Rating on Test Trays = 1

The test trays all work mostly on an Intuitive Process of the therapist rather than real science. There are definitely effects but they are not provable against the double blind. Intention is the main process of the test tray. When we put a glass vial onto the test tray the only thing we can measure with scientific equipment is the glass. So the courts have labeled this type of test tray as fraud. Many doctors have lost their licenses using such test vials. Muscle testing the vials has also been proven fraud.

You Cannot Get Drunk by Licking the Bottle

Bio-resonance Testing

There is no Scientific way for the electrical field of the contents of the vial to effect the test. It is the therapist's intention that guides his choice

But let's NOT throw the Baby out with the Bath Water. There is no real hurt if we are using safe homeopathy. There are results from placebo, and much more safety than SINthetic Drugs. But do not risk your license with unverified therapies.